Census Returns Give Increase in Coleman

Do Not Include Population Outside of Incorporated Townsite—Possibly 1,000 Additional in Those Areas

Further Census returns published to day give Coleman 1703, as against 1590 in 1921, an increase of 113. Were Carbondale, East Coleman and Grafbontown included, it will be found there is easily 1,000 more to be added, so that the figures do not give the complete returns of Coleman and vicinity.

Jas. Ford, secretary of the town, interviewed on the returns, stated these figures did not include Grafbontown, Carbondale or East Coleman, and from his knowledge of the assessment roll and voters list, 1,000 more was a conservative number to be added to Coleman's population.

Owing to East Coleman not being within the incorporated area of the town, it will be included in rural areas, but rightly should be included as population of Coleman to give the total population. The same applies to the other subdivisions not included in the incorporated area of the town, at least another 1,000 would be added when the complete returns are issued by the Census office.

Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Borden motored to Calgary for a few days.

Baseball Season Closes

Home and home games between Blairmore and Coleman baseball teams this week resulted in a win for each, though Blairmore scored the most runs. The game here was won by Coleman by a 4-3 score; the Blairmore game by that town with a score of 8-2. The boys have had a very good season of friendly rivalry, and some interesting games have been played. This marks the closing of the baseball season. The next great event of importance, after the local baseball events, is the World's series.

What Hugh Sutherland Said Many Years Ago

The Revelstoke Review in its Thirty-five Years Ago column prints an interview with Hugh Sutherland in a Winnipeg newspaper thirty-five years ago on his return from the Kootenay at that time. Sutherland was asked where a man wishing to try mining should go, and this is what he said:

"The man who has considerable money and likes high gambling, should go to Roseland. If he has only moderate means and means business, I would advise the Slokan; but if he is poor and he wants to get in on the ground floor, let him go to East Kootenay on the line of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway and bide his time."

"City Lights" a Fine Production

Charlie Chaplin maintains his supremacy as the king of laugh-makers. Those who saw "City Lights" agree that his silent picture surpasses any talkie in the comedy class, and that he is undoubtedly the master artist in making people laugh without resorting to any coarseness or portraying of something that is but a lame attempt at being funny. That short-tailed coat, the little bowler hat, those floppy boots, and the pathetic facial characteristic of this famous comedian are sufficient in themselves to provoke mirth. Combined with the light but interesting plot of the play, which points a moral of doing a good turn, it leaves a good impression. Charlie's smile of happiness at the finish of the play, when the blind girl whom he befriended, discovers that it was this outcast little tramp who was her "Prince Charming," and whose aid enabled her to regain her sight and open a smart flower shop, make a most pleasant climax, tinged as it is with his own realization that he is still just a tramp. There is artistry throughout the entire production which only Chaplin can give.

A Good Motto—"Be Prepared"

"Is a good thing to 'Be Prepared,' especially when it concerns matters that affect your comfort and your pocket-book. Nothing causes more regrets than putting off things till it is too late to take advantage of opportunities that may have saved you good hard-earned cash. Now that it is time to fix up around the house, storm doors, storm sash and windows should be purchased from J. S. D'Appolonia, who, following his custom of last year, is offering a very special price to buyers during the next two or three weeks. He would be pleased to talk over your needs. Make it a point to see him. Those combination doors are particularly good value, and at the same time give a nice appearance.

Handy Cards for Snap-Shots

People often wish to send snapshot photos to relatives or friends, but lack a suitable mounting or card in which to place them. The Journal has on sale cards suitable for this purpose, which if ordered by the dozen, will have the names of senders printed thereon and the initial letter embossed in gold. The cost if taken by the dozen is 25c each, or in 25 lots 21c each.

No Teachers' Convention

No teachers' conventions will be held in the province this fall, according to a statement received by Inspector Thurber from the Department of Education.

McGregor Construction Co. of Edmonton has a contract for 200 miles of pole line for the trans-Canada long distance telephone lines. ## Working on Roads

A camp has been established west of Bellevue for work on the highway, and in B.C. a camp is established a few miles west of Crows Nest. It is presumed these are under the unemployment schemes of the provincial government.

Sergeant Jones, A.P.P., states that a small force of men from Hillcrest and Bellevue will be employed in straightening out some curves in the highway, but he has no information at present on unemployed relief camps being established in this district.

HOUSEHOLD TEA

'Fresh from the gardens'

Courtesy and Safety

"Why is it," remarked the Observant Man, "that a man, who may accidentally jettie you in a crowd, turns and says 'I'm sorry,' or 'beg your pardon,' but who, when he gets behind the steering wheel of a motor car, throws all ideas of courtesy to the winds and acts as if you had no rights whatever, even the right to live?"

It is the unsolved puzzle of this present age. A man ordinarily polite and courteous, who if he bumped into another couple when dancing, or stepped on his partner's toes, would express his regrets, when engaged in motoring act, all too frequently, like an ignorant, uncouth boor. He who would hesitate to steal so much as a lead pencil from another, thinks nothing at all of stealing the right-of-way at a road intersection, even from a lady, considers he has done something smart, and even derides or joshes those whom he has made his victim. Yet he is guilty of theft, not only in a moral sense but actually in a legal sense, because the law declares it an offence to take the right-of-way from another to whom it belongs.

Many a motorist, who, if standing on his own two legs on the shore of a lake would never even entertain the thought of pushing a non-swimmer into deep water at the peril of his life, nevertheless does not hesitate to crowd a fellow motorist, possibly a beginner in the art of driving, off the road at the risk of smashing the other's car and possibly seriously injuring or killing him.

And why is it that so many men, ordinarily polite and courteous, refined in language and manners, become abusive, profane and quarrelsome over some slight mishap on the road? What is it about a motor car, or the pleasure or business of motoring, that so completely changes many men, and women, too, from their usual tenets of conduct into the most disagreeable creatures, reckless and regardless of the rights, comfort and safety of others?

It is merely because the modern motor engenders such speed that the drivers of cars become reckless, heedless, and for the time being at least are no longer normal human beings? Or is it that peculiar quirk in our human makeup that seems to impel us to do what both commonsense and the law says we are not to do?

The conduct of not a few, but countless thousands of motorists is an unsolved mystery. No man, except he be a maniac, would think of throwing vitriol into another's face and thereby blinding him, but to anyone used to travelling our highways at night it would seem that the vast majority of motor car drivers think nothing at all of driving past approaching cars with powerful, glaring headlights completely blinding for the time being the drivers of those other cars, and inviting terrible disaster. Is it that they are just too lazy to be even bothered to dim their own lights for a few seconds? Or is it something else, some petty meanness of disposition, some un-understandable twist in their character which does not at other times display itself?

And yet courtesy is such a fine trait, a simple thing, something that costs nothing, but which is the hallmark of the true gentleman.

And how much pleasure it would add to motoring if courtesy, instead of a rude boorishness, became the universal habit of the road! And, oh, how much it would add to the safety of the road!

Governments provide rules and regulations governing the condition of cars; Automobile clubs and associations conduct campaigns of education; tests are provided for brakes, lamps, tires, steering gear, etc., and all serve very useful purposes. But a uniform, universal recognition and acceptance of the ordinary rules of courtesy by one toward another, and by each toward all, more than any one thing to obviate accidents with their present appalling bills for damages and irreparable loss of life.

As a nation we are striving with might and main and the expenditure of fabulous sums of money to combat tuberculosis, cancer, and dread diseases of one kind and another; we are engaged in conservation of our forests, our streams and water-powers, our fisheries, our minerals; we spend millions on research work to combat rust in wheat, grasshoppers, and other pests which destroy the proceeds of our agricultural labors,—yet we go blithely on taking human life recklessly, needlessly, maiming many more, and destroying millions of dollars worth of property annually through the agency of the automobile, which to many has become a dread and a menace when it ought to be a joy and a blessing.

And such a little thing, such a simple thing, as the practice of a uniform courtesy would serve to revolutionize the situation for the better. Why not try it for a change! Let a little courtesy do its good work.

Alberta Oil Wells

Fifty-Seven Million Dollars Expended in Drilling Operations

More than $57,000,000 have been expended and more than a million feet of borings done in Alberta in the search for oil during the last thirty years, according to a recapitulation made by J. I. Carmichael, Lethbridge engineer. In all, some 407 wells have been drilled, not including the Ribstone field for which no details are available. Of the drilling done, 160 wells in Turner Valley have drilled 650,000 cubic feet—more than half of the province's total of 1,167,787 feet.

The Mother of Seven Children Used It for Diarrhoea

Mrs. Ray Drinkwater, R.R. No. 2, Hargreaves, Ont., writes:—"I am the mother of seven children, and last summer one of them, 17 months old, was taken very sick with diarrhoea, and I thought she was going to die. 'My husband went 7 miles to see what my sister had given her baby, and he came home with a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I gave the child a few doses and she was soon well again. 'My other children also had diarrhoea at that time and I gave them 'Dr. Fowler's' with the same results."

Japan's Population

Is Increasing By Nearly a Million Every Year

One or two competent writers on Japan having announced lately, with some confidence, that the population question in the Japanese Empire would settle itself because the rate of increase was steadily slowing down, the figures of the 1931 census now emerge to shatter that comfortable doctrine. The birthrate in Japan is not going down, it is going up. And the population is increasing at present by nearly a million every year. That fact may not be as disturbing to the rest of the world as it sounds. The Japanese, for all their apparent desire for emigration grounds, still show little desire to emigrate on any considerable scale. But the alternative is to convert Japan systematically from an agricultural into an industrial State.

DRAPERIES MADE NEW

"When we resumed housekeeping a year ago I found my draperies had become creased from packing. I must have them out on the line, hoping to remove the creases. I forgot them. The result was they became badly faded and sun-spotted. 'I was heartily until they became thought struck me to dye them, just dyed them a deeper green, and I used Diamond Dyes. They were gorgeous and new. I have never seen easier dyes to use than Diamond Dyes. They give the most beautiful colours—when used either for tinting or dyeing—and never take the life out of cloth as other dyes do.'"

Official details of the administration of the camps were issued by Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests. Present plans are to get the camps into operation early in October.

There will be no military methods but provincial police will be available whenever required at the camps.

PUT HIM OFF HIS PIPE

Indigestion and Acidity

"A few months ago, I had an attack of indigestion, heartburn and acidity, and had no appetite for meals, especially breakfast. I am a pipe smoker, and for several days I felt so ill I could not even look at my pipe. I decided to try Knuchen Salts. A few days afterwards I found that the heartburn and acidity had gone, and for the last five or six weeks I have been in my usual good health. I can now enjoy my pipe-smoking, and in fact feel about 10 years younger."—R.P.

When your digestive juices fail to flow freely your food lies in the system and ferments, thus causing the distress of indigestion. The "little daily dose" of Knuchen salt stimulates the flow of the gastric juices, and thus ensures complete, regular and unailing elimination of all waste matter every day.

Woman Wins Air Derby

Aviatix From Memphis, Tenn., Carries Off All Honours

Mrs. Phoebe Omlie, of Memphis, Tenn., was officially announced as the winner of the transcontinental handi-cap derby from Santa Monica, Cal., after she had taken a large share of the honours at the national air races. The contest committee announced that Mrs. Omlie had won the handi-cap race, in which 50 or more women and men competed, with a sailing of 109.19 points. She won the grand prize as well as the prize for the women's division. D. C. Warren, of Alameda, Cal., won the men's division of the race with 103.5 points.

Bronze Statue Honours Hardy

Unveiled By Sir James Barrie At Dorchester, England

Unveiling a lifelike bronze statue of Thomas Hardy, the work of Eric Kennington, here in Hardy's native Dorchester, Sir James Barrie, creator of "Peter Pan," told how nearly the world came to missing altogether the late novelist's services. "When the child Hardy was born," said Sir James, "the doctor thought him dead and dropped him into a basket. But a woman rushed forward to make sure and found he was alive. A statue to this woman—Mr. Kennington could have done worse than give us that."

It is usually safe to say that when a child is pale, picky, peevish and restless, the cause is worms. These parasites range the stomach and intestines, causing serious disorders of the digestion and preventing the infant from deriving sustenance from food. Miller's Worm powders, by destroying the worms, correct these faults of the digestion and serve to restore the organs to healthy action.

Co-Operative Wool

Manitoba and Saskatchewan Shipments Reach High Figures

The Canadian Co-Operative Wool Growers, western branch, report the receipt during July of 552 lots at wool of Regina, and of 502 lots at Portage la Prairie; the total Manitoba receipts amount to 200,624 pounds, and Saskatchewan receipts about 333,000 pounds. Up to the end of July eleven cars have been shipped from Regina, seven from Portage la Prairie and one from Marchand. During the month four contracts were received from Manitoba shepherds covering 130 fleeces and thirteen contracts from Saskatchewan shepherds covering 984 fleeces.

Market For Canadian Apples

Big Campaign In France To Exploit Canadian Fruit

A consignment of more than a million Canadian apples soon will be on sale in automatic vending machines on Paris boulevards, as the first step in a big campaign to make France eat Canadian fruit.

The final details of the campaign remain to be settled, but French importers already have made a cash offer for 7,500 boxes of Canadian apples, realizing their superiority over the French variety.

At the same time, negotiations are far advanced, whereby a Canadian company will install 2,000 vending machines along the boulevards. It is expected that each machine will sell 60 apples daily at one franc each, which is cheaper than the retail price of apples in Canada.

This enterprise is the result of the initiative of the Canadian trade commissioner's office, which also has just induced the French Ministry of Agriculture to grant a concession to Canadian apple exporters allowing them to store their apples at Le Savre without paying the customs duty until the apples are sold.

This concession on the part of the French authorities will permit the holding of fortnightly sales of Canadian apples at Le Savre. It is expected that such sales will be started shortly.

Previously, consignments on which the customs duty had been paid, remained unsold at French ports, causing a heavy cash loss to Canadian apple growers.

Byng May Retire

Has Accomplished Task Of Police Reforms In London, England

According to the Daily Mail, Lord Byng, former governor-general of Canada and now commissioner of the metropolitan police, intends to announce his retirement from the commissionership before the end of the year. The paper says Lord Byng feels that he has accomplished the task of cleaning up the west end of London and the institution of police reforms which he had set for himself when accepting the appointment in 1928. He is now about to retire to his Essex home, the newspaper continues.

Sir Trevor Bigham, deputy commissioner, who married Lord Byng's secretary, is expected to succeed to the commissionership, the Daily Mail declared.

Earl Jellicoe Held Position Of Junior Officer In 1898

It seems ages ago in this whirling world since the disastrous collision in the Mediterranean between the "Victoria," flagship of the fleet, and the "Camperdown," and it is almost startling to recall that Earl Jellicoe, Canada's distinguished visitor, was a junior officer on the ill-fated "Victoria." Though stricken at the time with fever, he plunged into the sea and was among those rescued—in his case to give further distinguished service on another flagship of the fleet. Earl Jellicoe took to the sea when young, as the "Victoria" went down in June, 1893; and he is far from being an old man.

Want Child Marriage Back

Renewed attempts to abolish the Sarda Child Marriage Restraint Act forbidding marriage to children below the age of 14, have been made by Indian legislators. The authors contend that the Sarda Act constitutes an invasion of sacred religious customs of the Hindus, reaching back thousands of years and allowing children to be betrothed in marriage even in infancy.

Two Vessels Are Now Loading Grain At Western Canada Seaport

Churchill, Man.—The thriving seaport of the prairies, Churchill is on the eve of an achievement dreamt of for half a century. In the late north country dusk, officials of the Dominion Government reached the harbour on the rocky bay shore for the inaugural overseas shipments of western grain, to be made this week.

Unloading of grain cars will go on in earnest, under the attentive eyes of C. D. Howe, Fort William engineer, who designed the 2,500,000-bushel plant to handle grain faster than any elevator in the world except massive post elevator No. 7 at Port Arthur. Under the contractors' agreement with the government, the elevator was to be operating by Sept. 15, but actually the plant has been ready to go for several days.

Col. E. A. Dubuc, chief engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, and D. W. MacLachlan, engineer in charge of Churchill development, will examine not only the completed elevator but the progress of dock construction. Arrangements have been made for the loading of the two test-ships in fast time, although considerable work is yet to be done on the dock facilities.

With Col. Dubuc and Mr. MacLachlan, who arrived here Sunday night from Ottawa, were Mr. Howe and Thomas Harling, Montreal shipping agent.

Mr. Harding, who chartered the test steamers for the Government, will supervise their loading for the long haul.

Favourable insurance rates for the inaugural shipments have been obtained, according to Mr. Harling, although in the case of both hulls and cargoes they are many times the rates from Montreal. Rates on hulls for this shipment amount to 1 1/2 per cent. It is expected that these rates will be sliced substantially if the test cargoes are carried overseas safely.

Before the "Farworth," which came from Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, in 13 days, is loaded and sent away, it is expected that Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, will be at Churchill, representing the Dominion in the absence of Premier R. B. Bennett who was unable to make the trip.

The "Warkworth," second of the two vessels chartered by the Government to carry the 500,000 bushel test shipment of Saskatchewan grain, will be loaded after the former boat sets out across the bay. Ten days out of Montreal, the "Warkworth" reached Churchill last Friday, September 11, one day after its sister ship.

Both vessels had easy trips through the Hudson Straits, reporting little ice sighted, and sailors were enthusiastic about the natural bottle-neck harbour at the rock bound river mouth.

It is probable that the loading of the two steamers will not be completed until near the end of this week. The great bulk of the grain, hauled from Saskatchewan in 350 grain cars, is yet to be unloaded into the elevator and extreme care is to be taken in loading and trimming the two vessels so that there will be no danger of the cargoes shifting on the open sea. No difficulty is anticipated in plotting the boats through the straits because ice begins to move down from the north.

Churchill harbour has been free of ice for three months, and more than a month will elapse before ice begins to form at the Churchill River mouth. While the bay is free of ice the year around, apprehension has been expressed regarding the ice flow at the entry to Hudson Straits between Labrador and Baffin Land.

Police Radio

Alberta Provincial Police Radio Network Is Extended

Edmonton, Alberta.—Alberta provincial police radio network will be extended within the next fortnight with the erection of broadcasting and receiving units at Grande Prairie and Peace River. The additions bring the A.P.P. broadcasting units to five, extending from the northern points to Lethbridge.

Announcement of the extension was made by Commissioner W. C. Bryan, head of the force.

Report Is Denied

Simla, India.—It was stated in official circles at Simla, the summer capital, that there was no justification for press reports which have appeared in London to effect that Earl Willington, Viceroy of India, may retire before the normal expiration of his term of office.

Four Scottish Castaways Are Rescued By Canadian Vessel In Far North

Ottawa, Ont.—The rescue of four Scottish castaways, marooned for many months on the shores of Frobius Bay, the deep inlet which cuts into the south-eastern portion of Baffin Land, has been effected by the S.S. Beothic, the steamer chartered annually by the Canadian Government to carry supplies to the far northern outposts of the Arctic Circle.

The names of the castaways and of their small motor ketch which, a year ago, was dashed to pieces on the coast of the inlet, could not be ascertained from the brief wireless messages received from the "Beothic" Thursday, Sept. 10. Such meagre information filtering through from the sub-Arctic, however, conveys that they were men from the little fishing town of Peterhead, in the north of Scotland.

Last summer, according to the radio despatches, an intrepid quintette inspired by the prospect of riches to be gained in the fur trade of the Arctic, left the Scottish port in a small motor ketch. What fortune befell them is not known, but the fact that the stumpy of the diminutive trading vessel died indicates that misadventure was not foreign to them.

One of the four took the place of the dead man and ventured the ascent of Frobius Bay. There the intrepid fur traders met their crowning misfortune. Their motor failed, and helplessly they were buffeted about among the ice floes until finally the vessel was dashed to pieces on the rocks. All four were able to reach land.

A touch of good fortune came to them in their discovering an abandoned Eskimo camp and, adding the new supplies they had been able to salvage to the walrus meat found there, they eked out a precarious existence.

Last December, however, their plight became desperate. The rigors of the Arctic winter, combined with their total lack of nourishing food brought the four men to death's door. But again the gods of chance were with them, for as they were on the fringe of complete exhaustion they were found by a wandering band of Eskimos.

The natives fed them, tended them, and at length conveyed the four to the post of The Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Lake Harbour.

There the men were well cared for, installed in warm comfortable quarters, and provided with sustenance that rebuilt them. When the "Beothic" put into Lake Harbour 10 days ago, the four castaways were taken on board and are now en route to North Sydney, N.S.

German Fleet Below Limit

Could Have Twice As Many Ships Under Versailles Treaty
Geneva, Switzerland.—Germany's armistist showing an army of 100,500 men and 4,500 officers is published by the League of Nations secretary.

Foreign Minister Julius Curtius in a foreword said that Germany had not yet been able to build her fleet up to the limit laid down in the Versailles treaty and that the report revealed "how meagre Germany's armistist is compared with other states of corresponding territory and population."

"The navy possesses for example only four commissioned ships of the line, whereas according to Article 181 of the Versailles treaty and the regulations of the inter-allied marine control commission six ships of the line should be in service and two ships of the line in reserve, in other words twice as many."

Receives Grain Award

Wins Alberta Championship For Best Field Of Grain In Province

Red Deer, Alberta.—Alberta championship of 1931 for the best field of grain in the province has been awarded to James Hallett, farmer of the Balmoral district. Hallett, whose farm is a few miles from Red Deer, captured the southern Alberta crown and later his field was given top place in the whole province.

According to the judges Hallett's field of Marquis wheat should yield 50 bushels per acre.

Tentative Date For Radio Hearing

Ottawa, Ont.—About December 10 is the tentative date for the hearing of the radio reference before the judicial committee of the Privy Council in England, according to latest official information received. The reference is on the question of the respective rights of the Dominion and the Provinces on radio broadcasting and receiving.

Mexico Will Join League

Mexico City.—Mexico's acceptance of the invitation to join the League of Nations has been called by Geneva by Foreign Minister Gen. Estrada. The proposal must also come before the senate for ratification inasmuch as membership in the league implies adherence to the covenant and the Treaty of Versailles.

HEADS LEGIONNAIRES

Major John S. Roper, who became President of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League when Lieut.-Col. LaFleche retired, was re-elected to the important post when members of the Legion from all parts of the Dominion gathered in Toronto.

Arctic Trip Ended

Wilkins Making Preparation For Early Return To America

Longyear City, Spitzbergen.—Sir Hubert Wilkins is overhauling and refuelling the submarine "Nautilus" in preparation for an early return to America, either direct or by way of Iceland.

The chief damage done on his cruise into the Arctic was the breaking of the mast by a violent storm. The radio apparatus also was harmed but repaired on the way back. The party expressed satisfaction with the working of its scientific instruments, especially the gyro-compass.

Members of the crew, bearded and dirty, but smiling, headed for steam baths on arrival. They said that during the southward trip from Spitzbergen the vessel rolled more than at any time since they left the United States and that some of them were seasick.

Will Continue Aid In West

United Church Of Canada Pledges Relief For Saskatchewan

Montreal, Que.—A new challenge to the Christian Church existed in the fact that "complete and extensive disaster had befallen the people of 40,000 square miles of southern Saskatchewan," Rev. William Munroe, D.D., secretary, declared in addressing members of the United Church of Canada, Montreal presbytery, here.

The presbytery appointed a special committee to aid the central body of the church in gathering and forwarding clothing and other relief material to the stricken community. It was emphatically stated that the church would stand behind its missionary work in Saskatchewan so that the ministry there would be fully maintained.

Death Rate Heavy

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.—Arthur E. Wood, Montreal, vice-president of the Sun Life Insurance Company of Canada, said at the company's annual meeting here that the death rate among large policy holders was unusually heavy and claims for suicide particularly numerous during the past year. His stated committee composed of actuaries of leading companies has been engaged for some months past studying this question.

Heavy Loss Of Life Caused By Hurricane In British Honduras

Miami, Fla.—Between 200 and 400 persons killed, several hundred injured and city-wide destruction and damage to the homes of the residents of Belize, British Honduras, by a West Indies hurricane that swept across that city late Thursday, are the reports by radio by the Pan-American Airways here late Friday.

Meagre information of the death-dealing wind came in scattered messages from the flying company's airport at Belize.

One Pan-American plane, bound from San Salvador to Belize, dropped medical and other supplies into the harbour of the stricken city after picking up the relief shipment at Comal.

First messages from Belize said the city was devastated, with 200 dead and great destruction of property. A second message stated that several hundred were injured, and about half of the city blown down, was cleared here before use of the company's radio facilities was turned over to the colonial government of British Honduras, for solicitation of assistance in relief work.

It was not until Friday, September 11, that the revised estimate of dead was sent to Miami, headquarters of the Pan-American Airways.

London, England.—Fifty deaths already reported and more than $1,000,000 damage in the town of Belize as the result of the cyclone in British Honduras, according to a cable received at the colonial office.

Seventy per cent. of the buildings in Belize were destroyed, according to the official cable. It is feared the loss of life is greater than yet reported as a great number of houses collapsed during the hurricane, burying the inmates. The town was inundated by the sea to a depth of from five to nine feet.

The names of the dead are not yet known.

San Juan, Porto Rico.—San Juan counted two dead, another slightly injured and considerable minor property damage, Friday, as a result of a 110-mile-an-hour hurricane that struck Thursday night. Buildings were flooded, trees uprooted and public utility services paralyzed.

A woman was electrocuted by a fallen wire and a waterfront watchman crushed under a roof dropped on him by the storm that lashed San Juan for two hours. The disturbance was limited to an area 30 miles in diameter. Police estimated that 100 houses had been unroofed.

The rain, although less than two inches, soaked valuable paintings and tapestry in the residence of Governor Theodore Roosevelt, who had sailed for New York on the steamer "Commodore" in the afternoon.

Bonds Over Subscribed

C.N.R. Twenty Year 4 1/2 Per Cent. Bonds Picked Up Quickly

New York.—Wide-spread demand for the Canadian National Railway Company 20-year guaranteed 4 1/2 per cent. bonds, offered recently, resulted in subscriptions in excess of the initial $25,000,000 offering and an additional $25,000,000 of the bonds which the banking syndicate had under option. Accordingly, the closing of books on the entire authorized issue of $50,000,000 was announced.

The heavy over-subscription of the issue was attributed to the recent scarcity of high grade bond offerings as well as to the attractiveness of the bonds, which carry the unconditional guaranty of the government of the Dominion of Canada.

Fewer War Victims

Berlin, Germany.—The number of German war victims shows a decrease this year for the first time since the war. The total of those, including widows of veterans, who had been in one way or another afflicted increased until last year, when the total was $40,000. This year it dropped to $38,360.

With Axe And Tax Hon. Philip Snowden Balances British Budget

London, Eng.—With axe and tax Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, balanced the British budget. It was eminently a budget of national sacrifice. Its wide-spread net was flung over rich and poor alike.

It caught the drawer of the dole with a 10 per cent. reduction in benefits. It hit the insured worker with a demand for increased contributions. It cut school teachers' salaries 15 per cent. It hit police, recruit and defence services, cut the salaries of members of the government and members of parliament and judges on the bench. It raised the income tax 12 cents on $5.

The standard income tax rate will now be $1.25 to $5. It reduces income tax exemption of both married and single. It adds 10 per cent. to the supertax; it imposes higher duties on beer, tobacco, snuff, petrol. It brings even the lowest priced entertainment within its sweep. Even the nickel show now pays a 5-cent tax.

"This is one of the most disagreeable tasks that has ever fallen to me in my life," said Mr. Snowden, as he opened his statement. "It is no pleasure to call upon people to make sacrifices or bear additional burdens and only the consciousness that this sacrifice is necessary; that these burdens are necessary to avert far greater burdens makes my task this afternoon tolerable."

Before Mr. Snowden rose painfully from his seat the House had been in a tangle with rapid-fire questions. A minister after minister was called to answer, the Labourites ironically cheered. It was from the Liberals and Conservatives who packed the government benches behind him that Mr. Snowden received applause such as few chancellors receive. The defiant challenge of his final sentence, "Come the world against us, England yet shall stand," brought them crowding to the front bench to offer congratulations.

It was a grave story he told—the estimated deficit this year was $370,000,000, and next year $550,000,000. "The country must face up to its position," Mr. Snowden exclaimed as he drummed his dispatch box with nervous fingers. "And I am going to do it this afternoon. There must be no more borrowing for the payment of unemployment benefits when the present borrowing powers were exhausted, he said.

He proposed to reduce the debt sinking fund appropriation both this year and next from $250,000,000 to $162,500,000. Deficits he proposed to meet in this way:

Economies in expenditure	$110,000,000
Savings on debt redemption	68,500,000
Taxation, inland revenue	145,000,000
Customs and excise increases	57,500,000
Total income	$381,000,000
Old estimated deficit	$73,980,000
New estimated surplus	7,605,000

WHEN ENGLAND MET A CRISIS—AND WON

Here is a general view of the large crowd of Britishers which gathered in Downing Street, London, in which the Prime Minister has his official residence, to see what would develop following the downfall of the British Labour Government. When Ramsay MacDonald (right) left No. 10 Downing Street for Buckingham Palace, to confer with King George about the formation of the National Emergency Government, he was enthusiastically cheered by the great throng.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Employing the Dollar

Cobwebs in the countinghouse of many a well-to-do family are restraining with almost invisible threads the energy of millions of dollars. This is the picture before the public today. Willing workers need employment because unwilling dollars insist upon staying at home. But why, when practically every necessity and luxury is to be had at less expense than in years, does the dollar refuse to go out into a world where opportunity and welcome await it?

In an advertisement signed by Alvan Macauley, president, the Packard Motor Car Company declares that the "very root of our unemployment problem runs down to the unemployed dollar—the dollar that is afraid to venture forth—sometimes through fear of public opinion."

This thought may be new to thousands who have been training the dollar to stay with them until there is another in sight, urging it to extend its visit because they are not sure it will continue to be a regular caller. But to persons more fortunate than these the reference to public opinion will not seem farfetched. Some may remember that Andre Maurois, the noted French critic and author, recently observed a certain diffidence on the part of the wealthy for the opinions of those who had felt more keenly the effects of business curtailment. M. Maurois pointed out that those who have suffered in the depression seem "incapable of having sympathy for him who has escaped its effects."

It would appear that in these observations an important cause for the dollar's idleness has been revealed. The calling of public attention to it should pave the way for its removal. Both those who have felt the effects of current business difficulties and those who have not can take effective part in hastening the return of general prosperity.

Buying by those who have the means has been well termed a patriotic duty. Such persons need not allow fear of what others may think to prevent them from putting their money to work in a common cause. On the other hand, those who feel they have not the funds for their wants cannot well afford to let envy or criticism on their part deter a more fortunate neighbor from sending his dollars out into the channels of trade. For it is through these channels that dollars must find their way to those who need them.

It should be borne in mind that the person who buys puts the worker to work. The person who cannot wisely buy, but who nevertheless sympathizes with and is glad of the evidence of his neighbor's prosperity, is doing much toward making himself prosperous.—Christian Science Monitor.

The Lethbridge Herald editor in an editorial suggests that we can get along without money if we decide to swap our goods or services. This would undoubtedly cut down the sale of many things in the luxury class. We would find how comparatively little we could get along with. Bartering would be confined mainly to necessities. A farmer might like to have a radio or a car, but would realize that a hundred pounds of butter or a flock of chickens were more valuable than the radio or the car.

Undoubtedly we could live without money, but those who live on what is known as "easy money," who toil not neither spin, would find that they were out of luck. They too, would have to do some real scratching. France has millions of gold locked up, so has the United States, because people are afraid to invest. Many will have to take in each other's washing if money continues to be hoarded.

It seems that the methods of Saskatchewan farmers must have been badly out of gear, as widespread relief is required. One's vision of a farm is a place where you have a few cows, some chickens, horses, pigs, and other animals. Grain also is grown, not as the sole aim and end of everything, but as part of the general plan of the farm work. The rule has been to grow grain to the exclusion of counting the value of other things from which a farm might be run as almost a self-contained unit as far as food supplies are concerned. What shall it profit a man to have a couple of thousand bushels of wheat in his granary if he hasn't a few chickens and a cow or two to furnish milk and eggs?

Probably we have been bowing too much to the worship of the graven image—gold. Out of the world's mess of high finance and regarding the millionaire as the successful man in life, will come the realization to a greater extent that success is to be gained in doing the real work of the world; to so distribute the products of labor that mankind as a whole will be usefully employed. For every millionaire there are thousands of poverty-stricken people. Henry Ford says he is not interested in money, now he has plenty of it. Would Henry share it with thousands of his employees who helped to produce it or those instalment buyers who also helped towards the fortunes of those who live on what is termed the unearned increment—interest?

Turning to the coal industry, especially in the Crow's Nest Pass, including Alberta and British Columbia, there is required direct representation in the Federal and provincial parliaments by someone who is vitally interested and who knows what is required to promote a truly national fuel policy. Mickey McLean was elected to the Federal parliament to represent East Kootenay, but was sidetracked to make room for Hon. Harry Stevens, a defeated Vancouver candidate. This constituency is represented by G. G. Coote, a sincere representative, but who owes his seat to a large agricultural vote of prairie farmers. The coal industry represents big business, yet who is there in provincial or Federal parliaments to wage the battle on its behalf with the same persistency and enthusiasm as the cause of financial and manufacturing concerns? Our vital interests demand that the coal industry has representation as skillful and clever as other classes of big business, and efforts should be made to see it accomplished.

Census Figures

Numerous enquiries have been received concerning the census figures for Coleman and district based on the 1931 census. The census office, Ottawa, states these are not yet available, but will be forwarded as early as possible. Blairmore population shows 1617, an increase of 65 over the 1921 census. Pincher Creek shows 1017, an increase of 129 over 1921. Of Alberta towns Grande Prairie shows the biggest increase on a percentage basis, its population having increased from 1061 in 1921 to 1461 in 1931, a percentage increase of 37.70. The town of Peace River showed a decrease, the 1931 population being 864, and 1921 population 980, decrease of 116, or 11.84 per cent. decrease.

The town of McLeod shows a drop in population from 1723 in 1921 to 1432 in 1931, a decrease of 291, or 16.89 per cent.

Saskatchewan's Cancer Campaign

Hon. Dr. Munroe Announces Opening of Radium Emanation Plant and Cancer Clinic

Saskatchewan has the lowest death rate of Canadian provinces, and the lowest death rate from tuberculosis, cancer, diseases of the heart, pneumonia and automobile accidents.

These statements of fact are based on Canadian Vital Statistics for 1928, recently released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. They demonstrate, unequivocally, Saskatchewan's leadership in matters pertaining to the health of its people.

While several factors have contributed to the spectacular showing of Saskatchewan in statistical records giving the comparative death rates of the various provinces and the Dominion, one that should not be overlooked is the very effective contribution made by the Saskatchewan Department of Public Health, presided over by Hon. F. D. Munroe, M.D., as Minister. The province is noted for its advanced health legislation, and its achievements in the campaign against tuberculosis are too well-known to require citation.

It was only to be expected, then, that when cancer started to claim particular attention as a "major killer," Saskatchewan should be the first province of Canada to tackle the disease as a public health problem.

The psychological opportunity came, in 1929, with an exceptionally favourable combination of circumstances. The medical profession had surveyed the cancer situation and been seized of the necessity of intensive efforts being made to combat the cancer scourge. But someone was required to crystallize the thoughts and ideas of the medical men into action. That person presented himself in Dr. Munroe, who, having been elected to the legislature as member for Mooseomin, and appointed Minister of Public Health in September, 1929, immediately grasped the chance and formulated a policy which gained the support and endorsement of the entire medical profession of the province.

The campaign against cancer, then, first conceived in 1929, was presented in tangible and actionable form in the 1930 session of the Legislature when Dr. Munroe, in his first speech as Minister of Public Health, piloted the Saskatchewan Cancer Commission Act through the Legislature and was voted a sum of $115,000 for the purchase of radium and equipment. This year, a further sum of $30,000 was voted him for administrative purposes.

Pursuant to the Act, a permanent Saskatchewan Cancer Commission was appointed, the members being Hon. Dr. Munroe, Dr. D. W. Davidson, Regina, and Dr. R. O. Davison, Director of the Communicable Diseases Division of the Department of Public Health. Drs. Munroe and Low are graduates of McGill University, while Dr. Davidson is a graduate of Toronto.

When the Commission settled to the gigantic task assigned to it, difficulties were experienced from the start in arranging for the supply of radium. The general plan of the campaign was to purchase, during the interim between application for, and actual purchase of, a sufficient supply of radium to carry out the plan.

Contacts were established by which the Commission obtained access to the latest data in cancer research, and definite plans for the provincial campaign were formulated to the end that no undue delay in the receipt of the radium and institution of the actual, clinical programme.

So well were the plans laid that, immediately a supply of radium was obtained, Hon. Dr. Munroe was in position to announce that one of the first emanation plants west of Montreal had been established at the University of Saskatchewan to supply clinics in the main centres with radium gas in "seeds" and other suitable containers, for treatment of cancer cases.

cer cases. This emanation plant, it is stated, will not only produce radium seeds to meet provincial requirements, but will ultimately be the source of supply of provinces to the west.

The story of Saskatchewan's campaign is best told in the words of the author and sponsor, Hon. Dr. Munroe: "It was in June of last year, that I announced the opening of the Saskatchewan Cancer Commission, and since that appointment, the members have been giving the attention to the various problems involved."

"It should be recognized that this Commission is not a temporary one, but permanent body appointed to carry out the provisions of the Act, its functions including inquiry, education and treatment. We have been able to place an order for radium and are now in receipt of the first shipment which is in the form of radium bromide, for use in the preparation of radon, or radium gas."

"In our outstanding clinics of the world, two methods of using radium in the treatment of cancer are considered valuable. One is the use of radium gas enclosed in suitable containers or applicators ("seeds"), and the other is the use of radium seeds enclosed in needles and tubes made of platinum. In Saskatchewan, we propose that both methods be used, either separately or combined, as deemed advisable. We also make provision for the use of radium in X-rays, both alone and in combination with surgical treatment and radium therapy."

"It is recognized that cancer cannot be dealt with in a manner that will produce satisfactory results, unless cases are available for treatment in the early stages of the disease. Consequently, with the co-operation of the medical profession, the Commission proposes to adopt an effective educational programme to facilitate early diagnosis and treatment. Consultative diagnostic clinics are being established in two centres, in connection with existing general hospitals. It is believed that more cases will be treated in this manner by such procedure than by having separate institutions for cancer cases."

In addition to this programme, in Saskatchewan will follow the line approved and endorsed by the outstanding medical profession of the world. That is to say, instead of following the very doubtful procedure of distributing radium supplies to physicians in all parts of the province upon requisition, the care of cancer patients will be confined to the established centres. This plan involves definite centralization of cancer treatment, and is based on the experience of other places which is, that cancer requires expert treatment and experienced care if adequate results are to be obtained.

"Cancer is, of course, a progressive condition, and the centralization of cases will be of distinct value to the patients, permitting, as it does, periodic re-examination under expert attention, and prompt treatment of recurrences or metastases. Such a procedure also will be of definite value to us in carrying out the provisions of the Act, by enabling us to follow up cases that receive treatment in arriving at, and assessing the value of, the procedure used. This following-up of cases, with compilation of the data obtained, will be essential to providing the citizens of Saskatchewan with the most effective known treatment of the disease."

Referring to Saskatchewan's outstanding record as shown in comparative vital statistics, Hon. Dr. Munroe said:

"Saskatchewan is situated very favourably in comparison with other provinces of Canada and states of the American Union. Saskatchewan's death rate from cancer in 1928 was 55.2 per 100,000 population, whereas the other provinces and states recorded a rate in excess of 100. But those figures do not tell the whole story in this province. In 1905, the death

The ADVENTURES of CAPTAIN JIMMU and his Dog SCOTTIE

WHAT CAME BEFORE: Captain Jimmu is flying to Japan with the Chinese General Lee. They run out of gasoline and are forced to land on a deserted island in the Chinese Sea.

After our adventure with the shark, we climbed up a steep, rocky hill that stood in the centre of the little deserted island. Here we found a roaring fire.

It was a roaring fire, in hope that it would warm us. The fire was so hot that it was almost unbearable. I was so hot that I was almost unconscious. I was so hot that I was almost unconscious. I was so hot that I was almost unconscious.

"I am so hot that I am almost unconscious. I am so hot that I am almost unconscious. I am so hot that I am almost unconscious. I am so hot that I am almost unconscious. I am so hot that I am almost unconscious."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SEPTEMBER 20

THE COUNCIL IN JERUSALEM

Golden Text: "For ye, brethren, were called for freedom; only use not your freedom for an occasion to the flesh, but through love be servants one to another."—Galatians 5:13.

Lesson: Acts 15:1-25; Galatians 2:2.

Devotional Reading: Romans 8:1-10.

Explanations and Comments

A Deputation Sent From Jerusalem To the Church At Antioch, Acts 15:2—When certain men came from Judea and taught the brethren at Antioch that they could not be saved unless circumcised after the manner of Moses, it became evident that the whole question of Gentile Christianity must be settled once for all and settled speedily.

The Church appointed Paul and Barnabas and others (among them Titus, Galatians 2:1), to go to Jerusalem and work out the problem in consultation with the apostles and elders. Read the first twenty-one verses of our chapter. The Council selected two of its outstanding men, Judas and Silas, to return with Paul and Barnabas and deliver its decision to the church at Antioch. Judas called "Barnabas" may have been brother to Joseph called Barnabas, the candidate with Matthias as successor to Judas Iscariot (Acts 1:23). Silas became Paul's companion on his Second Missionary Journey, and in the next three chapters of the Acts he is frequently mentioned.

The Earliest Formal and Official Document Issued By the Christian Church, Acts 15:23-29.—With the delegation a letter was sent, directed to "The Gentiles in Antioch, and Syria, and Cilicia." The churches founded by Paul on his first missionary tour are not mentioned, either because they were apparently unaffected as yet, or because the ferment of the Jews in those centers made it unnecessary to accentuate any restrictions.

The letter was sent, directed to the teaching of the Judaizers to whom the church at Jerusalem had given the apostles a letter which required the removal of goods and chattels, to pack up baggage and carry off to distant lands. It expresses with striking plainness the idea that these false teachers were taking away from the Gentile converts their entire possession of Christ. As Paul says in Galatians 2:4, "They wanted to compel us to accept of their liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage."

The Favourable Reception Of the Decision, Acts 15:30-35.—Knowing, as they did, the Pharisee element in the church at Jerusalem, not to say the bigotry of many of its members, the church at Antioch must have awaited the result of the conference with considerable anxiety. There was great rejoicing when the deputation arrived and the letter of the Council was read. The church at Jerusalem had yielded in what seemed to them a most important matter, the requirement of circumcision; the church at Antioch agreed, on their part, to abstain from things strangled and from food offered to idols. There was given and taken on both sides.

Judas and Silas, after exhorting the church, returned to Jerusalem. Paul and Barnabas remained at Antioch for some time, preaching and teaching the word of the Lord.

HON. F. D. MUNROE, M.D., C.M.

author and sponsor of the Saskatchewan Cancer Commission Act, a native of Glenora City, Quebec, and a graduate of McGill University, was elected member of the Saskatchewan Legislature for Mooseomin in 1929. Appointed Minister of Public Health in September of that year, he immediately applied himself to the cancer problem, his efforts resulting in the passage of the Cancer Commission Act within the short space of five months. His administration made possible the wholehearted support accorded him by members of the medical profession, irrespective of political affiliation. Hon. Dr. Munroe also inaugurated the Saskatchewan mental health programme.

DAVID LOW, M.D., C.M.

was born at Bainsford, Scotland, in 1868, and came to Canada in 1870. Educated in the public and high schools of Ontario, he graduated from McGill University in 1889, and for some time was house surgeon in Montreal general hospital. In 1890, he commenced practice in Regina and, in 1894, was medical health officer for the city. Dr. Low was active in the establishment of the Regina Victoria Hospital and organized the Regina Medical Association. In 1913, he was elected president of the Saskatchewan Medical Association, and was chairman of the committee of the Canadian Medical Association which drafted the constitution upon which the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada is founded.

R. O. DAVISON, M.D.

was born at Brantford, Ont., in 1885, and, receiving his early education in the public and high schools of his native city, later entered the University of Toronto. From 1889, he was graduated in 1908. Dr. Davison was appointed medical inspector in the Saskatchewan Department of Public Health in 1921 and, when the Division of Communicable Diseases was organized, in 1923, became its first director. When Hon. Dr. Munroe decided to institute a programme to deal with the cancer problem, Dr. Davison was placed in charge of the work as Director of Cancer Service. He has been active in medical circles since coming to Regina and, in 1920, was president of the Regina and District Medical Society.

Hunt For Hidden Treasure

Sir Malcolm Campbell Said To Be Interested in Cocos Island Quest. Sir Malcolm Campbell, world automobile speed king, has joined J. E. Leckie, of Vancouver, in his enterprise to head an expedition this year to search for hidden treasure on Cocos Island. He has accepted an active directorship in the company which will finance the Leckie Expedition, states Col. Leckie.

Sir Malcolm is not unacquainted with Cocos Island and its alluring history. In 1926, he spent some time there hunting treasure. His party was poorly equipped, however, according to his own admission, and was not successful.

Recently the British speed king opened negotiations with the Costa Rica Government, which owns Cocos Island, to permit him to hunt treasure there. The Vancouver company, however, had already obtained the concession, the result being that Sir Malcolm has taken an interest and a directorship in the company.

BEGINNING AGAIN

This is the joy each morning brings, The joy the happy linnet sings, As ringing through his glad refrain I catch the words, "Begin again!"

Down brings lost courage back anew, Brave dreams once more are coming true, My rest reiterates the note, Morn wakens in the inner's throat.

"Begin again and never fear," I hear the valiant voice of cheer, "Begin again and know but this: Man's life's a chalice shaped for bliss!"

No failure now can touch my days, No loss cast shadows on my ways, I have forgotten doubt and pain In challenge of this brave refrain.

"Begin again, begin anew, Be sure your dreams are coming true; Forget the past and know but this: Man's life's a chalice formed for bliss!"

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS - COME - TRUE

BY MARGARET FEEDER
A THRILLING NEW SERIAL

From the great castle of Beinfels, the House-of-Dreams-Come-True, into love, went Jean Peterson. Thrilled by a magic day at Montavan, spent with a man of mystery, she was brought face to face with the realization that she loved him—hopelessly.

Tragedy, misery, vengeance dogged at the heels of this beautiful love-child the moment she set foot on the broken-hearted, she returned to the castle of shattered Dreams only to find down before her eyes, swept by the ravages of fire. But in its place there rose a greater, a more enduring castle—the castle of love—the House-of-Dreams-Come-True.

every shade of his constant changes of mood.

"There's no sense of adventure about England," he said shortly. "It's a dull corner of the world—biting with the proprieties."

Jean realised how very completely, from his own point of view, he had answered her. Romance, beauty, the sheer delight of utter freedom from the conventions were as the breath of his nostrils to Glyn Peterson.

Born to the purple, as it were, of an old English county family, he had studied in the conventional atmosphere of his upbringing. There had been moments of wild rebellion, bitter outbursts against the established order of things, but these had been acutely checked and discouraged by his father, a man of iron will, who took himself and his position intensely seriously.

Ultimately, Glyn had come to accept with more or less philosophy the fact of his heirship to old estates and old traditions, with their inevitable responsibilities and claims, and he was just preparing to fulfil his parents' wishes by marrying, suitably and conventionally, when Jacqueline Mavory, the beautiful half-French opera singer, had flashed into his horizon.

In a moment the world was transformed. Artist soul called to art; soul; the romantic vein in the man, so long checked and thwarted, suddenly asserted itself irresistibly, and the very day before that appointed for his wedding, he and Jacqueline ran away together in search of happiness.

And they had found it. The "County" had been shocked. Glyn's father, unbending descendant of the old Scottish Covenanters, his whole creed outraged, had broken under the blow; but the runaway lovers had found what they sought.

At Beinfels, a beautiful old Schloss on the eastern border of Austria, remote from the world and surrounded by forest-clad hills, Glyn Peterson and Jacqueline had lived a romantically happy existence, roaming the Curled from early childhood with a most uncontrollable temper, and branded in later life by "The Mark of the Beast," Blaise Tormarin committed a crime for which he seemed destined to pay a life-long penalty at Montavan opened for him a new life—a life through which he fought a losing battle against love.

And losing, he yielded to the love of the beautiful girl from the far-off castle, only to find as the wedding day approached, that tragedy still followed, making it impossible for him to marry. Here "Chance," in the person of revenge, stepped and the world cleared of misery and darkness, and Blaise and Jean found at last their House-of-Dreams-Come-True.

Dust Explosions Frequent

U.S. Bureau of Chemistry Studying How To Avoid Them

Dust explosions of great violence continue to cause death and destruction throughout the United States, in spite of repeated warnings by scientists. Flour mills and cotton gins are the most frequent victims. A chemist recently estimated that if the particles of flour in an ordinary 100-pound sack could be divided evenly through the air in a room 10x20x20 feet, and then ignited, the pressure resulting could raise a weight of 2,500 pounds a distance of 100 feet. The United States Bureau of Chemistry is working on the problem of how dust explosions can be avoided.

The Editorial Page

Has Changed For The Better In Last Few Years

There have been many discussions as to what is the most popular section of a daily newspaper, but strangely enough the editorial page is frequently mentioned in the list. Once the only people who read editorials were of a stern cast, who were determined to do their duty to their country no matter what the cost. Although there were brilliant editorial writers fifty years ago, the general style and subject matter was not the type to attract the weary business man wishing mental relaxation. In fact, preparatory to perusing this section of the family journal, it was customary to don heavy silver-rimmed spectacles, and sitting very straight in a high-backed chair assume a lofty and solemn attitude. Today, like most other things, the editorial page has vastly changed. No longer are its readers confined to the distinctly serious-minded. It has come to have a much wider scope. No longer does the average editor strive for a lofty ponderous style that was the acme of excellence in the days of the leg-o-mutton sleeve. He realizes that there is a vast difference in the people whom he wishes to interest and adjusts his material accordingly.

Saskatchewan Unemployed

26,094 Registered Unemployed Persons in Urban Centres

The number of registered unemployed persons in the urban centres of Saskatchewan, not including dependents, totals 26,094, according to figures released by Hon. J. A. McKelvey, Minister of Railways, Labour and Industries.

These figures include 6,237 married men, 4,851 single men, and 932 single women in the cities, and a total of 12,074 unemployed persons in the towns and villages where no government registration offices are in operation. Regina has a total of 1,290 unemployed.

These figures were obtained at the conclusion of registration efforts that were undertaken by the provincial government officials, in keeping with a request made by the Federal Government for statistics dealing with unemployment. The figures were wired to Ottawa by Mr. McKelvey.

Professor Loses His Bugs

Entomologist Of Illinois University Robbed Of Valuable Collection

Professor John S. Dolehy has lost his bugs.

For six weeks, the professor, who is an entomologist at the University of Illinois at Urbana, had been touring several states by automobile with his wife, looking for ants, bees, dragon flies, earwigs, spiders and other insects. About 1,000 of them were collected and placed in a suit case.

Then the professor and his wife drove into Chicago, parked their car on the street, and went away for a few hours. When they returned the professor's bugs were gone. Someone had stolen them.

CHAPTER I.

The Wander-Fever

The great spaces of the hall seemed to dope away into impenetrable gloom; velvet darkness deepening imperceptibly into sable density of panelled wall; huge, smoke-blackened beams, stretching wide arms across the roof, showing only as a dim lattice-work of ebony, fretting the shadowy twilight overhead.

At the furthest end, like a giant golden eye winking sleepily through the dark, smouldered a fire of logs, and near this, in the luminous circle of its warmth, a man and woman were seated at a table lit by tall wax candles: in branched candelsticks. With its twinkling points of light, and the fire's red glow quivering across its shining surface, the table gleamed out like a jewel in a sombre setting—a vivid splash of light in the grey immensity of dusk-enfolded hall.

Dinner was evidently just over, for the candlelight shone softly on satin-skinned floor, while wonderful gold-veined glass flecked the dark pool of polished mahogany with delicate lines and trickles of opalescent colour.

A silence had fallen on the two who had been dining. They had been gay enough together throughout the course of the meal, but now that the servants had brought coffee and withdrawn, it seemed as though the stillness—that queer, ghostly, memory-haunted stillness which lurks in the dim, disused recesses of a place—had crept out from the four corners of the hall and were stealing upon them, little by little, as the tide encroaches on the shore, till it had lapped them around in a curious atmosphere of oppression.

The woman acknowledged it by a twist of her slim shoulders. She was quite young—not more than twenty—and as she glanced half-enquiringly at the man seated opposite her there was sufficiency of likeness between the two to warrant the assumption that they were father and daughter.

"You're not—entirely—English," he said in a low voice.

Jean knew from what memory the quick correction sprang. Her mother, the beautiful opera singer who had been the one romance of Glyn Peterson's life, had been of French extraction.

"I know," she returned soberly.

"Yet I think I'm mostly conscious of being English. I believe it's just the very fact that I know Paris—Rome—Vienna—so well, and nothing at all about England, that makes me feel more absolutely English than anything else."

A spark of amusement lit itself in Peterson's eyes.

"How truly feminine!" he commented dryly.

Jean nodded.

"I'm afraid it's rather illogical of me."

Her father blew a thin stream of smoke into the air.

"Thank God for it!" he replied lightly. "It's the cursed contrariness of your sex that makes it so enchanting. If women were logical they would be as obvious and boring as the average man."

He relapsed into a dreaming silence. Jean broke it rather hesitatingly.

"You've never suggested taking me to England before."

His face darkened suddenly. It was an extraordinarily expressive face—expressive as a child's, reflecting

"Yet I think I'm mostly conscious of being English. I believe it's just the very fact that I know Paris—Rome—Vienna—so well, and nothing at all about England, that makes me feel more absolutely English than anything else."

A spark of amusement lit itself in Peterson's eyes.

"How truly feminine!" he commented dryly.

Jean nodded.

"I'm afraid it's rather illogical of me."

Her father blew a thin stream of smoke into the air.

"Thank God for it!" he replied lightly. "It's the cursed contrariness of your sex that makes it so enchanting. If women were logical they would be as obvious and boring as the average man."

He relapsed into a dreaming silence. Jean broke it rather hesitatingly.

"You've never suggested taking me to England before."

His face darkened suddenly. It was an extraordinarily expressive face—expressive as a child's, reflecting the man's eyes clouded.

"You're not—entirely—English," he said in a low voice.

Jean knew from what memory the quick correction sprang. Her mother, the beautiful opera singer who had been the one romance of Glyn Peterson's life, had been of French extraction.

"I know," she returned soberly.

Despite the heavy snow and rains of the past week, smouldering embers are still throwing off smoke in the areas covered by forest fires.
From the highway on Monday
could be seen two columns of smoke on the Star creek area.

Rock Sudworth, John Stokulak

ers Union of Canada, which is affiliated with the Workers Unity League, being held this week in

John Thompson, formerly of Vancouver, is engaged as mechanic in Coleman Service Garage. He has over 18 years experience in motor mechanics, and car owners are assured of good service, states Chas.
Chardon, proprietor.

Mrs McKinnon and a party of friends motored from Kimberley and spent the week-end with Mrs.
Neil McKinnon, Sixth street, leaving on Monday for Calgary and Banff, to return to Kimberley via the Windermere highway.

The Rev. and Mrs. A. S. Partington were the guests of Mr. and Mrs.
Leroy at Michel on Sunday afternoon, and Mr. Partington took the harvest festival service there in the evening. Mr. D. Hoyle took charge

A notice stated a protest meeting would be held at 2.30 p.m. Saturday last, against the low rate paid fire-fighters. At the appointed time a heavy shower descended, which caused the cancellation of the meeting. It is not known who called the meeting.

Few people have learned the secret of living well. Most people measure contentment in terms of dollars and social position. The number is negligible which views life as a golden opportunity to work and think and be joyful.—Cranbrook Courier.

Time spent in planning how to increase business by intensive sales methods will pay far bigger dividends than worrying on how to cut down legitimate expenses. It is the creative effort that counts, and there is profitable business being carried on every day by those who put forth the extra effort.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Devine will move into the house vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Scott, who left last Saturday for Winona, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Peet will possibly move into the house vacated by the Devines. The changes are occasioned by the retirement of Mr. Scott, master mechanic.

If you own a business, show enterprise and enthusiasm in it by using every possible avenue to interest the public. People like to see activity, they are interested in what others are saying and doing.
The stores that are in the spotlight of publicity through The Journal advertising columns are sure to maintain a steady volume of business. Store ads. are read with as much interest as the news. Enterprising merchants know it.

Miss Madeleine Chardon expects

The opening of the duck shoot-

G. R. Powell, H. C. McBurney and awarded six firsts, one second and four thirds in the same classes. At

A Quotation for Today

To love and to labor is the sum of living; yet how many think they live who neither labor nor love—
Sir Thomas More.

Why Not?

She (discussing new neighbors):
"I can't make them out. They have no car, no piano, no radio.
She has no furs, no jewelry, no—"
He (interrupting): "Then they probably have some money."—
Paris Magazine.

Boy Scouts Re-Organize

Fraser.
The Wolf Cubs will meet on Friday, Sept. 18 at 5 p.m. in the parish hall. All member and boys wishing to join should be present.

Boy Scout Notes

Boys from 12 to 16 years wishing to join the Scouts should make application to Rev. A. S. Partington Fall and winter meetings will commence shortly, and names should be in within the ensuing week.

The benefits of the Scout movement and its influence on boys have commended it to parents and progressive citizens throughout the world. It teaches boys to be selfreliant, to extend the helping hand and a spirit of true comradeship.
The annual camp of Crow's Nest Pass Scouts in July proved the value of the Scout movement in this district. It is proposed to try and arrange a winter gathering at a central place, and this was discus-ed at a meeting of troop representatives recently held at Michel.
